GRAFT WITNESS HELD TO GRAND JURY—HITS CITY HALL CROWD

Peter Gaynor Finds It's a Dangerous Game to Knock Thompson-Lundin Administration—Judge Olson Holds Him for Perjury—Thoney Sticks to Slot Machine Story.

It doesn't pay to buck the high-powered Republican machine that dominates the City Hall, so Peter J. Gaynor, a Lithuanian saloonkeeper, without friends and unable to speak English well, was made understand today. Because his charge that he paid $250 to have his license restored contained a few discrepancies, Chief Justice Olson of the municipal court held him to the grand jury for perjury today under $5,000 bonds.

Olson's action was a source of great joy to the Thompson-Lundin faction. They believed it would discredit Gaynor's entire story.

Gaynor, while on the stand yesterday, after telling his sensational graft story, did not say he made other efforts to regain his license ex-
